Together we're fighting for better mental health support in the Borough of Rochdale.

This is your Corporate
Support Pack

A handy guide to who we are and how you can help us to fund vital mental health services in the Borough of Rochdale.

Who are we?

Rochdale and District Mind is a proud Local Mind, part of a national network of independent charities connected to Mind.

While we work closely with national Mind, we raise our own funds and are governed by our own board of trustees, ensuring that everything we do is rooted in the unique needs of the communities we serve.

We provide information, services and spaces that support better mental health and wellbeing across Heywood, Middleton, Rochdale, Bury and N.E. Lancashire.

Our aim is simple:

To empower people to improve and maintain their mental health, and to build a community where everyone feels supported, understood, and respected.

Putting help into people's hands

Sponsor practical mental health resources, putting timely support directly into people's hands.

We distribute thousands of printed materials each year to people seeking mental health support. These simple but powerful resources can be life-changing, offering reassurance, clear information, and access to help when it's needed most.

Donations towards these materials allow us to directly support frontline mental health care without entering a formal sponsorship arrangement.

Support Cards

Our support cards are small, wallet-friendly cards that let people know when our Listening Lounge crisis drop-in sessions take place and who to contact in an emergency.

We distribute these to people who may need extra mental health support, including:

- People attending our events who aren't sure where to go for help
- People using our support services who want to keep our crisis support details and emergency contact numbers close by for the future
- People experiencing a mental health crisis who want clear, immediate access to our Listening Lounge crisis drop-in sessions

In recognition of your kind donation you'll get:

- Formal thank you letter and certificate
- Your logo featured on our Corporate Support webpage
- Thank you post on our social channels (tagging your organisation)
- Featured recognition in our annual impact report
- Photo opportunity with your team and the Support Cards you've funded

Calm Kits

Calm Kits are thoughtfully curated self-care packages handed out free at community events and to people accessing our services.

They encourage a moment of pause, practical self-care and awareness of mental health support available locally.

Other ways you could support us

Time and Expertise

The gift of time and knowledge is just as valuable as financial support. We're always looking for organisations to lend their skills; whether as community champions, by joining us at awareness events, or by helping to deliver and promote fundraising activities.

We particularly welcome companies with specialised expertise – from construction, decorating and maintenance to IT, design, marketing, HR and data – who can donate time, skills or pro bono projects that strengthen our services.

If your team is proud of what you do and wants to use those skills to support a local mental health charity, we'd love to talk. Partnering with us offers meaningful community engagement, fresh development opportunities for your staff and a powerful story to share with clients and stakeholders.

Donating or Sponsoring Essentials

Every organisation relies on the unseen essentials: from office supplies and cleaning products to safe, welcoming spaces where people can meet. Rochdale and District Mind is no different.

Your company can support us by donating practical items or by sponsoring the renovation and upkeep of our rooms and offices, helping us create a warm, dignified environment for staff, volunteers and the people we support.

If you prefer to give in kind, our Amazon Wishlist makes it easy to contribute directly to the items we need most, either as a one-off gift or as part of your ongoing CSR activity.
